

A RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION TO MASCOE

WHEREAS, we the membership of NASCOE have accepted the invitation to meet in the 24th state to enter the Union, the great state of Missouri and to St. Charles, the first capital of the state. Where Louis and Clark began their historic journey with the "corps of discovery" to explore the land west of the Mississippi. Where the great Arch to the west was built in St. Louis. Where Charles Lindbergh lived and was part of the Missouri National Guard before he competed for the $25,000 prize to be awarded for the first pilot to successfully fly non-stop from New York to Paris. Where Samuel Langhorne Clemens wrote novels like Adventures of Huckleberry Finn under the pen name of Mark Twain. Where Susan Elizabeth Blow founded public kindergarten. Where Daniel Boone resided as a local judge. Where George Washington Carver did research on better soil for farmers. Where Walt Disney grew up and where Jesse James became a famous outlaw, and

Whereas, the members of the MASCOE Association have done a excellent job of extending their MidWest Hospitality and Open Friendship in the mixture of true culture, with delicious food, healthy sport, and excitement to ensure the tradition is carried forth for the annual NASCOE family reunion, and

Whereas, we the members of NASCOE, have experienced a truly wonderful time participating in various activities and fellowship and now of being of sound mind to voice our appreciation for this special time provided for us.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the delegates, members and families of NASCOE and their friends who, having enjoyed this wonderful privilege of convention participation, do by adoption of the resolution, express our thanks and compliments to our host, the MASCOE Association, for all they have done for us, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that as each of us leaves the beautiful city of St. Charles, the ninth largest city in Missouri and full of diverse heritage and rich in history, we do so with a new sense of direction and renewed dedication to contributing NASCOE's responsiveness to the tasks ahead, and we pledge our continued effort in our work in FSA for greater agriculture and a greater America.
